Fund Objective

The primary objective of the Taquanta Enhanced Cash Fund is to achieve consistent returns in excess of a generic money market fund with an emphasis on capital preservation and low performance volatility.

Investment Strategy

Employs a conservative approach to enhance yields through extracting the liquidity risk premium primarily in longer-dated bank paper with a maximum maturity up to 7 years. Our fundamental credit review process is robust, combining qualitative and quantitative analysis, overlaid with institutional memory to question convention, operating within a strong risk and compliance framework. The fund is primarily invested in bank issued instruments that can be liquidated easily

Fund Outlook

For fixed income investors, the environment remains challenging but offers selective opportunities. As we enter the new year, fixed income investors should remain vigilant but optimistic, capitalising on opportunities while managing risks amid a complex and evolving macroeconomic environment. Careful credit selection is paramount given the economic headwinds.

In response to evolving rate movements and shifting market dynamics, our approach emphasises yield enhancement by effectively leveraging liquidity, term structure, scale, and credit risk premiums. This strategy enables us to remain competitive while ensuring robust portfolio performance.

Market Commentary

Lower Interest Rates: On November 21, 2024, the South African Reserve Bank (SARB) reduced its primary interest rate by 25 basis points to 7.75%, reaching the lowest level since April 2023. This widely anticipated move aimed to balance weak economic growth with stable inflation expectations post the global monetary tightening cycle. While short-term inflation remains contained, the medium-term outlook suggests potential upward risks. The SARB revised its 2024 inflation forecast down to 4.5% (from 4.6%), maintained its 2025 projection at 4%, and raised the 2026 estimate to 4.6% (from 4.4%), driven by anticipated electricity price hikes.

In the United States, the Federal Reserve (Fed) reduced interest rates by 25 basis points in December 2024, setting the range at 4.25%-4.5%. This was the third consecutive cut, following reductions of 25 basis points in November and 50 basis points in September.

Volatile Exchange Rate: The South African rand came under pressure due to the Fed's hawkish tone on future rate policy. In the final week of December, the exchange rate against the US dollar fluctuated, with a low of 18.604 on December 26 and a high of 18.898 on December 31. This volatility underscores the sensitivity of emerging market currencies to external factors, such as US monetary policy shifts, which impact investor sentiment and capital flows.

Subdued Economic Performance: South Africa's GDP contracted by 0.3% in Q3 2024, following 0.3% growth in Q2. The contraction was driven by declines in the primary sector (mining and agriculture), while secondary and tertiary sectors experienced slower growth. Despite the quarterly setback, GDP in Q3 2024 was 0.3% higher compared to Q3 2023. For the full year, GDP growth is expected at approximately 0.8%, reflecting ongoing challenges such as electricity supply constraints, weak business confidence, and subdued private investment. Key sectors like mining and manufacturing were negatively impacted by global commodity price volatility and logistical inefficiencies, though resilience in agriculture and growth in renewable energy investments offered some support.
